

OUTLAW STRIKE IS CALLED

Seeking To Tie Up New York Harbor

May Delay Sailing Of Ship To Be Boarded By Hull

STRIKERS HOPE TO HALT SAILINGS

(International News Service) NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—A general maritime strike, with the object of tying up all ships in New York harbor, was called for today by the outlaw strike forces of Joseph Curran.

Repudiating the international seamen's union, which was sought to quell the strike, the striking seamen announced they would try to prevent the sailing of every ship from this port and attempt to press for wages and working hours equal to those prevailing on the Pacific coast.

One result of the new strike plan may be an effort to delay the sailing this afternoon of the steamer American Legion, carrying a committee headed by Secretary of State Cordell Hull to attend the Pan-American conference in Buenos Aires.

Outlaw Strike Decree
The general strike announcement came after a meeting here, attended by outlaw strike delegates of ports from Maine to Texas.

Shortly after the decision of the 1200 outlaw strikers who attended the meeting was made, Curran announced:

"The strike strategy committee immediately went into the question of formulating proposals intended to achieve parity with west coast wages and working conditions."

He also said: "The decision to call a general strike was in concurrence with a similar decision in other Atlantic and Gulf ports."

The outlaw strike organization also repudiated its agreement with steamship companies, discredited I. S. U. officials, and adopted a change of policy in regard to the west coast.

However, a move to have the eastern strikers join with the Maritime federation of the Pacific to press for a nation-wide agreement with ship owners was voted down.

standing whereby, in the event of another world war, trade would flourish between the two Americas, giving the United States an outlet for its manufactured goods and the Latin-American republics a ready market for their raw materials.

The American delegation has suggested adoption by the other participants of the neutrality legislation now in effect in this country. Thus an united front would be presented by this hemisphere in the event of war in Europe or Asia.

Closer cooperation between the republics, too, would strengthen the position of the United States in the exercise of the Monroe doctrine.

The adoption of a united front against foreign encroachment by all the republics would give Latin America even further security.

The question of enlarging and changing the Monroe doctrine to make it a multilateral, instead of a unilateral, instrument is expected to be broached by some of the Latin-American countries. This would give the guarantee of collective security to the smaller neighbors to the south.

Out of the conference may come a league of nations for the western hemisphere, and a suggestion has also been made that a court be set up to arbitrate all differences without recourse to arms.

Secretary Hull before leaving Washington said he hoped the results of the conference would act as an example and encouragement to the rest of the world to move constructively toward peace.

WAGE INCREASE TO AFFECT 4,300 IN NEW CASTLE

boosts effective November 16. Three local Carnegie-Illinois plants, employing 17,500, accepted the offer. Representatives of 25,000 workers in the corporation's sheet and tin mills in the three districts temporarily "turned down" the offered raise and continued negotiations aimed at a 15 per cent increase.

Lester Clark, of New Castle, Pa., chairman of the employees' publicity committee, who said he represented the Gary Sheet and Tin Works and several plants in the Ohio steel districts as well as Western Pennsylvania plants, announced:

Seek 15 Per Cent

"As it stands now, we've turned it (the 10 per cent raise) down, but we're continuing negotiations. Our objective is a 15 per cent pay boost, with the larger increases going to the lowest paid workers. The company's attitude is that they can't go higher, but I believe this committee will stand pat for a 15 per cent raise."

Late Friday, steel management from coast to coast announced pay boosts for factory and white-collar workers averaging about 10 per cent.

Columbia Steel, Pacific coast subsidiary of U. S. Steel, started the ball rolling with an announcement yesterday afternoon. Shortly thereafter, Bethlehem Steel followed with an announcement of its employees' wages, on November 16, would be jacked up 5 and 1/2 cents per hour in basic labor rates, with equitable adjustments in other pay rates.

Then followed announcements of wage boosts from Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation, largest single employer of steel labor, and principal subsidiary of U. S. Steel, and Jones and Laughlin, one of the nation's largest independents. The J. and L. increase was also roughly ten per cent, and affects 20,000 workers. It was believed, and in some cases stated, that other independents, including Youngstown Sheet and Tube and Pittsburgh Steel, were reading similar announcements. In the middle west, Inland Steel revealed that workers receiving less than $5000 annually would be raised an average of ten per cent.

22,000 Accept

Pittsburgh, Nov. 7.—Twenty-two thousand employees at 18 scattered plants of the American Steel and Wire Company have accepted an average wage increase of 10 per cent it was announced today at the headquarters here of the U. S. Steel subsidiary.

The contracts, signed for the year beginning November 16, are identical in every detail with the wage agreements reached with plants of the Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corporation, largest subsidiary of U. S. Steel.

Affected workers were: Two at Worcester, Mass.; one at New Haven, Conn.; four at Cleveland, O.; one at Waukegan, Ill.; two at Joliet, Ill.; one at Duluth, Minn.; three at Donora, Pa.; one at Rankin, Pa.; one at Allentown, Pa.; one at DeKalb, Ill., and one at Trenton, N. J.

immediate effect was to threaten plans of Secretary Hull, and U. S. delegation to the Inter-American Peace Conference in Buenos Aires, to sail aboard the S. S. American Legion this afternoon.

Ultimate aim of the New York strike is to tie up all shipping in the harbor in an effort to force acquiescence by eastern ship owners in strikers' demands for "parity" with gains made by labor on the west coast.

Billy Dugan Injured On Bike

Billy Dugan, a young lad who resides on Crawford avenue, sustained a serious bump on his forehead, lacerations and contusions, when he fell from his two wheeled bicycle while playing on Hutchinson street, better known as "The Dugout," Friday afternoon about 5 o'clock.

The boy was joining a couple other playmates, taking turns coasting down off the steep hillside to the left of "The Dugout," on a narrow path coming across the ditch, and on down the hill. Billy, in attempting this stunt, lost control of his bike, cut across the midway and struck the cement wall on the opposite side of the hill, head on, knocking him unconscious for a few seconds. Passersby instructed his playmates to carry the boy down the hill to a nearby physician, and a gentleman coming the opposite direction, met the trio, took the boy in arms and rushed him to a doctor.

Upon receiving medical attention, it was found his wounds were of somewhat of a serious nature. The cut in his forehead required one stitch.

BARBARA NESBIT'S PARTY FOR BRIDE

For the pleasure of Mrs. John Edward Johnson, who will be remembered as the former Virginia Wimer daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl R. Wimer of Highland avenue, a delightful party was given Friday evening by Barbara Nesbit at her home on Leasure avenue.

The affair was in the nature of a dessert-bridge, with a dozen girls interested, among whom were two from out of town, Mrs. Jean Book Christy of Ellwood City, and Virginia Specht of Harrisville.

Favors at cards were captured by Lilyan Richards, Mrs. Emily Reynolds Honken and Gretchen Smith. After card playing was concluded the group was invited to Barbara's cozy room upstairs, where an attractive sight met their gaze, a card table being piled high with lovely gifts for the new bride.

After enjoying the excitement and pleasure incidental to their display, the group was called to the dining room, where a most attractive lunch was served, the hostess' mother, Mrs. D. W. Nesbit, aiding.

The centerpiece was an effective arrangement of pink and white mums to accent main cards at the places, which were also decorated with touches of silver and the bridal motif. Accessories all harmonized.

Games were soon in progress, the prize for bridge falling to Mae Dagnon; in 500 to Margaret McConnell, and for bingo, Annabelle Morrissey was the winner.

The dining table was beautifully appointed with a large bouquet of yellow and bronze mums in the center, guarded by yellow candles on either side, where a delicious lunch was later served. Smaller tables decorated in the same manner accommodated the remaining guests.

The hostesses were assisted with the menu by Mrs. Klas Nelson and Miss Mary Patterson. Numerous other bouquets of mums decorated the rooms throughout, lending an autumnal effect to the setting.

FASHIONS IN TOYS

It is claimed by the toy manufacturers, who are offering an advance display of their Christmas wares in New York City, that the new trend in toys is toward the imitation of adult activities in science, industry, homemaking, art and transportation. This means a greater variety of toy trucks, automobiles, streamlined trains, scientific kits, miniature cook stoves and so forth.

The styles may be new, but the fundamental toy has not much changed. It is nothing new that children want to imitate their elders in their play. Though the ultra-modern doll may have the wardrobe of a motion-picture actress or may be fed real milk from a bottle, it is essentially the same doll that delighted the heart of grandmother when she was a small girl. And anything on wheels was always one thing a boy wanted for Christmas.

It is more startling news, perhaps, that the toymakers are preparing for a hundred per cent increase in the demand by adults for parlor games. It must be that a new age of innocence has arrived, and it is certain that the old folks have lately learned to play again, having much more time for play than they used to have. A lot of the latest games designed for adults were once the amusements of the younger generation. The young folks, it seems, want to play at keeping house, running a business or railroad, building bridges, raising quintuplets and other adult employments. The old folks return the compliment by reverting to the games of their childhood.

CONTINUED MYSTERY

Why is a vandal? Around this time of the year, with its close conjunction of Election Day and Halloween, the vandal as a tribe flourishes. Not that he does not persist through other months, but he seems to reach his apogee just before winter closes in.

It was a strenuous campaign, but for the true vandal it was a season of expansion, of creation. Masterpieces of colored chalks, of paint, of chipping of corners of stone construction testify to his diligence.

On his off time a vandal at home may be a mere putterer around the house, but in such employment he cannot really be happy. He strikes his stride only around election time and at Halloween. Then he approaches full stature—the supernal pest and nuisance.

SENATOR BORAH WILL BE THERE

In addition to the senators representing other political parties, Mr. Borah will sit in the new congress, as usual, representing himself. Idaho's habit of sending him back to Washington at the end of each six-year term has made him the dean of the senate.

In a day when so many of our senators and representatives seem to be cast in a single mold, William Borah stands out as unique. Occasionally it has seemed that he has disagreed for the sake of disagreeing. More often his utterances have impressed the country as wholly sincere in their independence, especially when he has held forth on the matter of foreign relations and America first.

Senator Borah has been noted for his devotion to the constitution as the "charter of the people's liberties," his belief that within its framework there is ample room for more progressive measures, or if not, reform should come through the amending process. In this respect he should continue to strengthen the hands of those colleagues of both parties who share his sound belief.

"HOW OLD ARE YOU?" IS OUT

The Japanese, traditionally the politest people in the world, have always had, according to Occidental ways of thinking, one glaring defect in their national code of etiquette. It is their customary inquiry and salutation, which they deem the height of courtesy, addressed to new acquaintances: "How old are you?" The Chinese are inclined to the same interrogation. Years ago the late Wu Ting Fang, on a visit to this country, caused some embarrassment to distinguished hosts by employing this pointed question as a conversational opening.

Four years hence the Olympic Games will be held at Tokio and the Japanese government is already planning to make its guests feel perfectly at home. So the people are being instructed to omit the customary inquiry to foreign strangers. A few years' training may even bring about abandonment of this custom among the natives.

But it still persists among those who register voters in this country, nor will the officials accept as answer from a man "as old as I feel," or from a woman "as old as I look." Perhaps some day the law will enable our officials to be as polite as the Japanese are trying to be and register all on the declaration that they are "over twenty-one."

NO EMPIRE BROADCAST

King Edward has made it known through his secretary that he will not follow his father's habit of speaking to the people of the empire Christmas day. The subjects of the new king may learn this with regret.

The Christmas broadcast was a grand show. Even Americans listened in with clocklike precision as the voices of the greater and the lesser breeds rang around the world. The native African beat his tomtoms, Welsh choral societies sang. There was the shout of troops on the Afghan frontier. A skating carnival in Canada called to the bathers on an Australian beach.

Newfoundland fishermen listened to a village choir in Devon and a Kenya planter talked of Christmas as he found it. It was around the world and around the clock—a great show—although there may have been a touch of disappointment when a bit of a hoax was revealed. The empire had spoken on phonograph records prepared in advance.

As the culmination King George would speak. At least the voice of the king was the real voice. He sat in his library by his fireside with his family about him and spoke partly as ruler and partly as man to man. The picture was of a domestic Christmas in the palace as well as of an empire knit together. All was well in the family.

Many British subjects will regret that Edward VIII. abandons the custom. George V. had endeared it to them.

Spain's complaint has been diagnosed authoritatively as chronic spontaneous combustion.

GOT AN ALLERGY?

I know a woman who can't eat eggs. . . Can't eat them boiled or fried or in cake or in anything. They make her violently ill. . . She is "allergic" to them. They poison her.

I know another woman who cannot stand a cat in the room, can hardly stand it to be in a room that a cat has just left. She sneezes and is very unhappy. . . It isn't imagination. It's an "allergy." Some protein from the cat floats through the air to her and poisons her.

I know a youngster who can't go to circuses. . . Being near the animals is poison to him. . . So he can't see the chariot races or the dashing young men on the flying trapezes, or lions and tigers, or laugh at the silly, silly clowns. . .

Circuses are poison to that poor kid because he's "allergic" to all that diabolic insinuating animal protein that doesn't harm you and me at all.

It isn't imagination. An allergic condition is a very serious disease, and a painful fact that cheats many human beings out of health and happiness.

Maybe you're asking: "What about our grandfathers and our great-grandfathers and our great-great-grandfathers? Is this allergy business a new thing, or did our ancestors suffer from it, too?"

I asked that question of a doctor once and he said he did not know. But he thought it was a comparatively recent infliction of the human race, maybe only a few hundred or a few thousand years old. That as human beings grew more civilized, more complicated, more sensitive, they became more and more subject to these more subtle diseases. And finally reached the absurd point when they could not enjoy an egg or ride a horse or keep a dog around the house.

It is also true that some human beings are "allergic" to the common joys of living—and can't take life as their ancestors did. Can't stand danger, can't endure pressure, can't shoulder responsibility, can't enjoy excitement, can't meet the rough and tumble of vigorous living—have a horrible, deep-seated allergy against life itself and go around wishing, half the time, that they'd never been born.

The bare thought makes me shiver. . . I think I'll spend next Sunday chopping up a pile of wood.

All this may account for the many words by the English speaking Chinese in his conversation—those "horse-crested" words which flow from their lips so easily. Observe the language used upon the Shanghai-Nanking railroad.

"Is that cow still upon the track ahead of us?" he asked.

"Yes, gracious one who deigns to grace our unimportant railroad with his honorable presence," answered the conductor. "The devil-imbued cow is still there."

"How fast does the train progress at present?"

"Its usual rate of progression, most gracious one. About four miles an hour."

"And how fast, slave of a terrible railroad, moves the devil-imbued cow?"

"Most benign one, about five miles the hour."

"Here is a yuen. Take thou a few yards of rope up to the engineer and tell him to affix the train to the cow!"

HINT ON ETIQUETTE

Two women and their escorts, in super-formal attire, stopped at a local night spot, for an early morning snack before going home.

Strange rule of publishing: If it's a dull book, use big print; if it's one they can't quit, use fine print to put their eyes out.

While their order was being prepared, an imberbed young man entered, melted into a chair near the dressy foursome, gave a brief order and was promptly served.

He shook himself into position, tucked in his napkin, bowed to the four strangers, and blurted:

Brief summary of Japan's grievance against China. "How dare you be so easy to lick!"

It takes a lot of respect for law to see the difference between "free love" and divorcing a dozen mates for the sake of variety.

Now that the final returns of the national election are in, we will have to resign ourselves to become accustomed to reading more about the crisis in Spain.

To End Shipping Disputes.
Government Should Take Hand.
Commission Named Too Late.

Central Press
Washington Bureau
602 Times-Herald Bldg.
By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—Now that election is over the federal government undoubtedly will take eagerly in hand the task of preventing future clashes between American ship owners and maritime labor.

It certainly is a federal job; as much so as the business of governmental mediation between employers and employees in the interstate transportation industry ashore.

If ocean shipping is international, its regulation assuredly is a federal proposition. Even if it is only coastal, most of it is interstate.

Interstate railroad mediation has proved effective.

Congress' intention was to make maritime mediation equally so.

NOT SOON ENOUGH

The expectation was that the maritime commission, created at the last congressional session, would accomplish just this purpose.

Unfortunately the commissioners were not appointed soon enough.

Congress voted the commissioners shortly before the adjournment, near the end of June. It was specified that the commission was not to be permitted to begin functioning until 30 days after the presidential naming of its personnel.

It already was known that the agreement under which the Pacific coast ship owners and maritime workers were operating, would expire on October 1, and that trouble between them was more than a probability unless a renewal of their bargain had been arrived at by that date.

"But, Madame," he remonstrated. "You can scarcely see even his head and shoulders."

"Is that so?" came the reply. "Well just put that bench on my trunk over there, climb up on it, and then see what you can see! It's an outcase!"

Even a minister who is late to a funeral has his troubles. We heard of one the other day who arrived after the coffin had been closed. Expecting to be called upon to pray and not knowing whether to refer to the departed as "brother" or "sister," he whispered to a man sitting near the coffin, "brother or sister?" And the mourner replied "cousin."

SHENANGO HIGH TOPS UNION, 7-0

Andy Lysko Scores Winning Touchdown On 11-Yard Forward Pass

BIGGEST CROWD OF SEASON SEES GAME

ELEVEN stalwart schoolboys flaunting the colors of Shenango township high school, ended the 1936 football season in a blaze of glory on Friday afternoon on the Shenango field, defeating a hard fighting Union township team.

The final score, 7-0. The biggest crowd of the season watched the exciting battle which was played in perfect football weather.

The tilt was packed with action from start to finish. The Shenango Wildcat combination took the oval on the kick-off and immediately started a forward march that ended deep in Union territory, two incomplete passes bringing the march to a close. Witowitz's trusty toe put the ball in the middle of the greensward only to have the blue and gold Wildcats bring it right down the field to scoring position. With the ball on the Union 18, "Lefty" Kirkwood tossed a pass which landed in the waiting arms of Patterson, Union's star receiver. After two plays, Witowitz punted to the 40. Failing to make any headway, Alfreda kicked beautifully to the Union 2. From behind the goal line, Witowitz managed to get off a nice kick. Kirkwood's pass to Arnold was good and moved the piskins to the Union 20. However, Union Blue Devils held like cement as the first period ended.

On the first play of the second stanza, Witowitz got back to punt but Tanner blocked nicely. Alfreda kicking beautifully to the Union 2. From behind the goal line, Witowitz managed to get off a nice kick. Kirkwood's pass to Arnold was good and moved the piskins to the Union 20. However, Union Blue Devils held like cement as the first period ended.

Two husky lads, Andy Lysko, right end, and Nick Alfreda, right half-back, played for the last time under the Shenango colors. They played spectacularly throughout. Carl Kirkwood, probably the best fullback in class B circles in Lawrence county, was outstanding for the Shenangoans, as were Druschel and Collingwood.

For Union, Witowitz, Fulton and Guinagh played a whale of a game

the line for 2 and Kirkwood broke through the line for a nice 16-yard gain which placed the ball in scoring position. Kirkwood again was elected to carry and gained two more. Alfreda threw a pretty pass to Lysko who was nailed on the Union 8. Alfreda hit the line for 1 more yard. Kirkwood bucked the line again for 2. Shenango attempted the old Statue of Liberty play which failed, netting the East New Castle eleven a 6-yard loss. On the fourth down, Kirkwood took to the sky again, throwing a rifle line pass over the goal line, Andy Lysko leaving high in the air for the oval. It was an 11-yard pass. Kirkwood plunged over the line for the seventh Shenango point.

After the kick-off, Union threatened, scoring two first downs that put the ball in Shenango territory. Guinagh just missed a first down by inches, halting the drive. Shenango played safely during the remainder of the period.

The large crowd went wild at the kick-off in the third quarter, when King, Union fullback, broke loose, stumbling and advancing the ball for more than 40 yards. Fulton, on the quarterback sneak play, gained nine yards, followed by a nice line buck by King that gave the Scotland Lane lads a first down. Witowitz hurled a short pass to Guinagh, netting the visitors 8 more yards. On the next play, Union fumbled. Alfreda, recovering for Shenango, halted the sustained drive of the fighting Union machine which seemed to be headed for a score. Alfreda kicked to safe territory. Near the end of the quarter, Lysko recovered a Union blocked kick.

In the last quarter, Shenango advanced the ball to the Union 18, only to lose it on downs. During the remainder of the period, Union played head ball in the hope of getting a break that did not come. In the closing minutes, Ostrosky heightened the hopes of Union rooters by grabbing a Shenango fumble on the 40. After two long passes failed Witowitz took to the air again. Grinzovich recovering for the home lads. The final score, 7-0. The game was the most exciting of the season on the East New Castle grid lot.

Two husky lads, Andy Lysko, right end, and Nick Alfreda, right half-back, played for the last time under the Shenango colors. They played spectacularly throughout. Carl Kirkwood, probably the best fullback in class B circles in Lawrence county, was outstanding for the Shenangoans, as were Druschel and Collingwood.

For Union, Witowitz, Fulton and Guinagh played a whale of a game in the backfield. The entire line was in the thick of the battle from start to finish. The Shenango team ended its regular season Friday. Coach Frank Nocera, the new East New Castle mentor, molded together one of the best class B teams in the district.

Bessemer Wins Over Mercer, 7-6

DeArment Crosses Line In Second Period For Bessemer Touchdown

BESSEMER CLOSES SEASON SATURDAY

(Special To The News)
MERCER, Pa. Nov. 7.—In the most exciting grid battle of the season on the Mercer field, Bessemer high eleven added Mercer high machine to its victory list Friday afternoon. The final score, 7-6. W. Rhodes crossed the goal line in the opening period to give the home towners a lead. DeArment annexed the Bessemer score.

Shortly after the kick-off Mercer made 7 yards and elected to punt. Guylito was off-side for Bessemer. As a result Mercer drew a first down. On the next play Dusty Rhodes slipped around end, reversed his field and galloped 45 yards before being nailed on the Bessemer nine. It took three plays before Dusty crossed the last chalk mark. His try for the extra point, via the line plunge system, was short.

In the middle of the second stanza Notarski booted a low punt which rolled deep into Mercer territory. Mercer's safety man chose to play it safely, instead fumbled and Pezzullo recovered on the 25. The Bessemer eleven failed to gain on two plays and a pass, Calderaro to Pezzullo, was ruled good, due to interference with the catcher giving the Cement City representatives the ball on the 15. D. DeArment broke through the scrimmage line and zigzagged his way the remaining yards of the field. DeArment scored the extra point to give the Bessemerites a 7-6 decision. Neither team threatened in the second half. Mercer had the ball on their opponents' 25 at one time.

Dusty Rhodes and Ringer played outstanding ball for the Mercer eleven. Hribar, Bessemer center, spent a considerable part of the afternoon in the Mercer backfield. Guylito, Notarski and H. DeArment played heady ball.

Bessemer closed the 1936 season Saturday, meeting Lowellville high at Bessemer.

New Castle At Martins Ferry

Squad Of 35, Headed By Coach Phil Bridenbaugh, Leaves On Special Train

SPECIAL TRAIN PACKED TODAY

When the New Castle high "Red Hurricane" football special train steamed out of the west side Pennsylvania station at 9:45 o'clock this morning it carried a squad of 35 young football men. Head Coach Phil Bridenbaugh, Assistant Coaches Thomas, Klee and Cuba, Trainer Tom Lewis, and Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gardner.

Look For Battle
In addition there were several student managers and newspapermen on board the special car that carried the team.

"We expect the toughest battle of the year today at the Ohio city, and it will take all that the New Castle boys have to upset the Martins Ferry high "Purple Riders" was the statement of Coach Bridenbaugh.

The New Castle squad was in fine shape for the game today with the exception of Dal Mumford the quarterback and Donnie Covelli, the regular right end. It was doubtful if either of these two boys will see action in the game today. Small will do the signal calling and direct the team as general, while either Domroski or Fraser were expected to be at right end post at game time.

Backfield Uncertain
On board the special train today was close to 500 high school students including the team and the New Castle high band with Joe Replogle directing. The section reserved for the fans was about 250 strong. Altogether according to C. J. Callahan, the special would carry about 700.

The special will leave Martins Ferry an hour and a half after the game or about 7 o'clock, it was indicated. The special should be back in New Castle by 9:30 or 10 o'clock at the very latest.

Conference At Pulaski Friday

Grove City District Pastors And Laymen Meet In Afternoon And Evening

DISTRICT UNITY GIVEN DISCUSSION

A conference of Methodist Episcopal ministers and laymen of the Grove City District conducted yesterday afternoon and evening in the Pulaski M. E. church proved very profitable in a number of respects. It brought, with the appointment of two special committees, the district a step nearer toward its goal of having a definite year program in which all organizations of every Methodist Episcopal church of the district will co-operate, and a co-ordinated division of the district into subdistricts.

The district constituency has long felt the need for the establishment of a system in program and a closer unity among the church organizations and the churches themselves. The committees named at yesterday's conference will report upon their work at the spring meeting in Emlenton.

Another item of business was the granting of a license to preach to William S. Plant, of New Lebanon. Numerous committees were appointed during the business sessions by Dr. Thomas E. Colley, of Grove City, district superintendent, and will serve during the coming year. The program of the day was carried out exactly as planned. Rev. R. S. Naylor, of Volant, led the opening devotions in the afternoon. Rev. H. A. McCurdy, Epworth pastor of New Castle, gave an address on "Ministerial Ethics." Rev. A. C. Locke, of Franklin, led a discussion on "How Shall We Have a Volunteer District Director of Religious Education?" Rev. D. J. Bladell, of Farrell, discussed "Radio's Challenge to the Preacher," and L. E. Sauer spoke on "Engineering the Sunday School."

Dinner was served at 5:30 by the ladies of the host church. In the evening Rev. C. W. Baldwin, of Slippery Rock, was in charge of the devotions, an anthem was sung by the Pulaski M. E. choir. Rev. C. H. Hagadorn, Mahoning pastor of New Castle, addressed the assembly on "Our Subdistrict Arrangement." Leo McKay, Rev. W. E. Davis, of Greenville and Rev. L. D. Smith, of Sharon, gave short talks on "The Mission Unit Fellowship," and Dr. Colley concluded the conference with a personal consecration service for the ministers, having for the theme, "The Mark of the Calling."

Wives of the ministers had a meeting of their own at 3 p. m., in the home of Mrs. E. J. Jennings. They did not elect officers as had been announced on the program but had a very interesting afternoon meeting. Mrs. E. E. Elbel, of Clintonville, was chairman of the program committee. Various vacation experiences were given by the women. Mrs. C. H. Hauger, of New Castle, told of Chautauqua. Mrs. M. M. Mook, of New Wilmington, told of the Texas centennial. Mrs. W. E. Davis, of Greenville, told of a trip to Canada, and Mrs. A. C. Locke, of Franklin, told of a trip to Florida. The women will elect officers at the spring meeting.

The district stewards had a meeting in the church and took care of routine matters. Rev. E. J. Jennings, the host pastor, had taken care of all arrangements nicely. There were 150 or more representatives present.

Amputate Arm Of Accident Victim

Of Arm Shattered By Gun Discharge

John Dallas Gill, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dallas Gill of R. F. D. No. 7, whose left arm was shattered when his gun was discharged late Thursday afternoon as he slipped from a log on which he had been standing, suffered amputation of the arm at the elbow yesterday.

While still in a serious condition, he was stated at the hospital that he had a fair night. He has been suffering considerably from shock and the loss of blood.

VICTIM OF CRASH IS STILL SERIOUS

It was reported at the Jameson Memorial hospital this morning that the condition of George Bryan of Scott street, injured when the truck he was driving left the road two miles beyond Harlansburg, Wednesday afternoon, is still serious, although he had a fair night last night.

THE PARENT PROBLEM

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

DAWLING CHILDREN
EVER SO MANY letters come to me about the child who dawdles. "Dear Dr. Myers: What does one do for a child who 'pokes and dangles'?" My seven-year-old son seems never to get started or finished without constant pushing. His teacher complains of this and he is driven to distraction at home. No matter how early he gets up, there is always a terrible rush at the last minute to get him off to school on time. He does good work on his studies and well in his music, considering how little effort he seems to give it. He loves to play, and can be ready for play in five minutes.

"I am very anxious to correct this fault if possible, as I have a daughter 21 years old who likewise is slow, and I am hoping not to make the same mistake twice; if I am to blame.

Mother Does Girl's Work
"Because she is slow I have formed the habit of going ahead with a lot of work she should be doing, because meals must be served on time. This seems not to bother her a bit; she seems not to feel her responsibility. A good student, she finished a university course in four years, at 20."

I think it does no good to blame a parent for her errors. We parents try to do the best we can. As a rule, our motives are the best. I am sure this mother's have been. But somewhere her procedure has been bad. She seems to reveal the basic secret in her letter as she tells of the emotional agonies she participates in with the boy, and her taking the responsibilities away from her daughter. Since both children are, or have done well at school, there is strong indication that they can take responsibilities away from home. Having had a dawdling child in our own home until we grew aware of it and changed ourselves, getting early and easy correction, I am inclined always to assume that the major problem of parents is practically always in the parents and not the child. Perhaps we can say the same about most "child problems."

Whether this mother, or the thousands of other mothers and fathers of dawdling children, can correct the problems, even in this younger child, or not, will depend upon how objectively she is able to think through this problem, plan a program, and carry it through. I suggest, and carry it through. The key to her success will be her ability to cease saying "hurry" and to shift the burdens to the child in such a way that he alone will bear unpleasant consequences from prompt carrying through of simple routines about the house, and how well she can do all this without any emotional heat.

On Court House Hill

Under the will of the late Charlotte Muse, which has been admitted to probate at the register and recorder's office, all of decedent's property is left to her two children, George W. Muse and Martha E. Yoho.

Around six thousand hunting licenses have been issued so far this year, according to County Treasurer Joseph Hartland. This is about the same number as last year. Owing to the shortness of the season, it is believed that there will be few licenses issued from now on.

There are still some big potato raisers in this section, according to County Commissioner Floyd Cotton. He was up at Grove City one evening this week and talked with a farmer who has already dug 12,000 bushels, and has about 3000 more to dig. He had 47 acres planted in potatoes. He is wholesaling them at 70 cents a bushel. For 15,000 bushels he will receive $10,500. From this it would appear that there is still some money in farming if you happen to have the right crop and the right prices.

Court Stenographer F. M. Rowland has written out the notes of testimony in the case of John and Katherine Born against Charles A. Berg, in which an application for a new trial was made. The case is one growing out of an automobile accident, in which the jury awarded a verdict of $750 to Born and $300 to Mrs. Born. It is claimed by the defense that the verdict was against the weight of the evidence. The County Controller Frank W. Hill is a strong advocate of a new system of keeping accounts of delinquent taxpayers. Under the present system the delinquent taxpayer must visit the city treasurer's office, the city solicitor's office and the county treasurer's office, in order to find out how much taxes he owes. Often considerable time and work is needed to secure a statement. Controller Hill is in favor of the card system used at Erie and some other places. Under this system all the taxes owed by a delinquent are kept on a single card, and the county treasurer is at all times able to give a taxpayer immediate information as to his standing. The system is said to cost seven or eight thousand dollars to install, but Hill says that it would eliminate enough help to more than pay the cost over a period of two or three years.

Coffee trees are raised from seeds grown in nurseries. After six months of care in the nursery, the trees are transplanted to an orchard where they begin to bear when they are three years old.

My New York
By James Aswell

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—We were swapping anecdotes from New York years.

One reporter recalled the time he was sent up to interview one of the famous footlight comics. The conversation consisted entirely of the comic expatiating on how good he was. It went on and on.

Finally he seemed to realize he was tooting the old trumpet too strenuously. He paused.

"Say, I guess I've been talking about myself too much," he said.
"Tell me something about yourself.
How did you, for instance, like my first radio program?"

At the same soiree George Gershwin told what he says is a favorite story where pianos thump.

A nice old lady was tut-tutting the regrettable fact that "Yes, We Have No Bananas" made a million dollars for the composer while Beethoven's magnificent Fifth Symphony earned little or nothing for the creator of it.

"Yes," shrugged the Tin Pan
Alley songsmith to whom she complained, "but the Beethoven piece had such a bum tune!"

Here's the one they tell about a visiting roughneck from overseas who, in the old days of the Gopher (pronounced Goopher) gang in Hell's Kitchen, asked a caddy to drive him at once to the toughest saloon in town.

The caddy deposited him before a dim and sinister tavern in the heart of the Kitchen sector. The visitor swaggered out and peered over the swinging doors. He turned to the caddy:

"How many men do you see inside?"

"Sixteen, sir."

"All right. So they think they're tough, eh? Will you be good enough to count them as I throw them out?"

The startled and apprehensive driver, after begging his fare in vain to desist, agreed to keep count.
And the tough stranger thereupon entered the saloon.

Followed a tremendous crash. The splinter of glass and a body hurtled through the saloon window.

"One!" cried the caddy, amazed.

"Shut up, you fool!"—from the emerging form even as it struck the curb—"This is me!"

But Herbert Asbury's yarn about that pair of Mississippi riverboat gamblers is riotous about the late spots in effete Manhattan.

They were taking a day off from their jobs. One was a fero dealer and the other a croupier—as ferocious and slick a pair of ten-minute eggs as you could find in that wild neighborhood a generation ago. Of course, it was a busman's holiday.
They repaired at once to the nearest gambling dive.

It was a river shanty and the assembled company was enough to make a Twentieth Century gangster duck for the floorboards
